The following are requirements for recipients in order to maintain the Dingledine Scholarship:

1. Participate in the Dingledine Scholar Leadership Program under the mentorship of Associate Director of Planned Giving, Kathy Sarver.
   - This program will be student run, although not an official student organization.
   - It will consist of two commitments per month between September and April.
   - Students shall not receive any more than two absences per school year from mandatory events. Social events are not mandatory.
   - Excused absences will be accepted if other academic activities or other social demands interfere, as deemed acceptable by those students primarily leading the group, with mandatory events received three days prior. After the three day deadline, an excuse must be an emergency in order for it to be excused.

2. First-years and new transfer students must apply for Make Your Mark on Madison (MYMOM) during the fall semester of their first year, (or sophomore year for first-years if they prefer), in addition to the program.

3. Maintain a minimum 3.0 GPA.

4. Remain in good standing with the university - do not receive any strikes in accordance with JMU policy.

5. Attend the annual retreat, which will be held in the fall.

6. Actively participate in the interview process for future Dingledine Scholars during spring semester.

7. Participate in the spring Dingledine Scholarship Banquet- attend and play an active role with banquet process.

8. Serve on committees established by the D-Unit Leadership Program.

By signing this contract, you understand that these are the requirements in order to maintain the Dingledine Scholarship and commit to fulfill them as a recognized member of D-Unit.
