

JMU Alumni Association

Distinguished Alumni Award for Teaching

The Alumni Association accepts nominations for Distinguished Alumni Awards, recognizing distinguished service, professional achievement and excellence in teaching. All members of the JMU Alumni Association are eligible. Anyone may nominate eligible alumni for the awards.

Nominations due December 15, 2009

The JMU Distinguished Alumni Award for Teaching honors the heritage and founding principles of the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Harrisonburg, now James Madison University. The Distinguished Teaching Award honors one respected, gifted classroom teacher and compliments the accomplishments of all JMU graduates. Classroom teachers, pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade, with at least five years of teaching experience, are eligible.
