Justice Studies

JUST 100. Justice Studies Proseminar. 1 credit. This course is designed to aid justice studies majors in their pursuit of internships, graduate education and career opportunities. The course focuses on developing skills in resume writing, interviewing and networking techniques, job and internship search skills, and investigating graduate and law school opportunities. Prerequisites: JUST 200 and junior or senior standing.

JUST 200. Introduction to Justice Studies. 3 credits. This course introduces students to the interdisciplinary field of justice studies, including the development of justice concepts, principles and theories and their application to public issues. This course also provides an overview of the three tracks in the justice studies major: crime and criminology, global justice and social justice. Prerequisites: Declaration of justice studies major.

JUST 210. Crime and Criminal Justice. 3 credits. This course provides an introduction to the nature of the crime problem in the United States, including patterns of victimization and offending and the ways in which the criminal justice system responds to these behaviors. Prerequisites: JUST 200 and admission to the major.

JUST 212. Theories of Crime and Criminal Justice. 3 credits. This course provides an in-depth exploration of theoretical perspectives pertaining to the two central realms of criminological inquiry: crime and the response to crime (criminal justice). Both classic and contemporary perspectives are examined. The course will examine why people commit crime, why crime occurs, why it differs across groups and the objective underlying crime control policy. Prerequisite: JUST 200.

JUST 221. Social Justice Theories. 3 credits. This course serves as a theoretical introduction to the social justice track of the justice studies major. It includes an examination of the major concepts regarding inequality. How do we define and create inequality? Can we rid ourselves of inequality or should we accept it as a necessary element in society? Prerequisite: JUST 200.

JUST 222. Social Justice Interventions and Policies. 3 credits. This class provides a review of the general structures of American social justice interventions and policies including governmental, corporate and not-for-profit organizations. Emphasis will be placed on macro-structures such as entitlement programs and micro-structures such as neighborhood and grassroots organizations. Prerequisite: JUST 200.

JUST 225. Justice and American Society. 4 credits. This course introduces the student to the concept and reality of justice in America. It is a broad-based, interdisciplinary consideration of justice: What it is, what it means and how it intersects with society and social institutions in American. Philosophical and theoretical underpinnings of the notion of justice and the historical context of justice in American society will be considered. May be used for general education credit. May not be used for major credit. May not be used for major credit.

JUST 235. Justice in the Global Community. 3 credits. A survey of different definitions of justice relating to the operation and development of a global community in international affairs. Prerequisite: JUST 200.

JUST/PSYC 255. Abnormal Psychology for Law Enforcement Personnel. 3 credits. This course for students interested in becoming law enforcement professionals critically examines psychological normality and abnormality. The course focuses on description and causes of abnormal behavior likely to be encountered by law enforcement professionals and on intervention options for police officers. May not be taken by psychology majors or students who have completed PSYC 250 or PSYC 335. Prerequisites: PSYC 101 and JUST 200.

JUST 300. Perspectives on Comparative Justice. 3 credits. This course provides students with an overview of contemporary justice policy problems and issues in a comparative context. It begins with an assessment of comparative case study research strategies and proceeds to a comparative investigation of a specific topic. Ethical and legal issues will be addressed. The topic covered will vary but include such concerns as war, terrorism, corruption, social and political repression, human rights violation and law enforcement. Prerequisites: JUST 200 and one other 200-level JUST course.

JUST 301. Special Topics in Justice Studies. 3 credits. This course provides an examination of topics that are of current interest in the field of justice studies. The class may be repeated for credit when course content changes. Prerequisites: JUST 200 and one other 200-level JUST course.

JUST/PSYC 314. Police Psychology. 3 credits. This course explores the role of psychology in various aspects of police work and examines how psychological research and methods can assist police departments and police officers in reaching law-enforcement goals. Prerequisites: PSYC 101 and for Justice Studies majors, JUST 200 and one additional 200-level JUST course.

JUST 315. Mental Illness and the Criminal Justice System. 3 credits. This course introduces students to a growing crisis facing the U.S. criminal justice system: the growing numbers of mentally ill offenders in the criminal justice system. Following a consideration of the needs of individuals with mental illness, the course focuses on the treatment and management of mentally ill offenders at each stage of the criminal justice system, from initial contact with law enforcement to re-entry into the community. Prerequisites: JUST 200 and one additional 200-level JUST course.

JUST/PSYC 316. Human Development and Crime. 3 credits. This course examines how psychological research and theory shed light on the development of criminal careers, the factors that protect children and adolescents from becoming criminals, how being a victim of crime influences well-being, and the efficacy of rehabilitation. Special attention will be paid to the knowledge base on delinquency and childhood/adolescent victimization. Prerequisites: PSYC 101, and for Justice Studies majors, JUST 200 and one additional 200-level JUST course.
