

*Diane Lending,
College of Business*

“CFI is the concept of faculty helping faculty, so if you’re trying to teach a big class, you have workshops from faculty who are also teaching big classes, teachers teaching active learning – which I wanted to incorporate into mine, there are people who have done it really well and you get to pick and choose. It’s whatever you need. You choose your own way to improve your career. The collaboration in becoming better at what you need in your career, how I make an impact on the students and in my career is all embodied in CFI.”