Call For Papers

The Journal of ERW and Mine Action

Issue 18.3
Deadline: 15 July 2014
Publication: Fall 2014

FOCUS: Program Management
The Journal invites articles on best practices and lessons learned in project and program management for local, national and regional conventional weapons destruction and mine action programs. What tools are useful? What training is essential for managers? What skills are needed for a project management team? What time-management tips can help managers? What hiring practices can help managers minimize employee attrition? What benefits are essential in a hiring package? How can managers learn to create and implement an effective strategic plan? How can gender and disability equality be incorporated into hiring and program management practices?

FEATURE: Improvised Explosive Devices
The Journal invites articles on the global threat of improvised explosive devices (IED) and how IEDs can be identified, removed and prevented. How is IED clearance different from mine clearance? What are best practices in IED detection and risk education? What is the role of law enforcement in IED clearance, and how does this differ from traditional mine action? What role, if any, does the humanitarian mine action community play in counteracting IEDs? What threats do IEDs pose to the humanitarian demining community? What practices for physical security and stockpile management best prevent the illicit use of military munitions in IEDs?

SPECIAL REPORT: Pacific Islands
Explosive remnants of war remain in the Pacific Islands from World War II and from more recent internal conflicts such as the insurgency in the Philippines. What cultural, social, economic and environmental effects has contamination had in the region? Articles focused on clearance, survivor assistance, risk education and related issues are desired.
