Proposal for a new Spring 2014 Class and Final Exam Schedule

Howard Lubert (Political Science)

We the Senate propose that the University consider new spring and final term schedules, to wit:

1. end regular term classes on Friday, April 25

2. create a four-day reading period for students from Saturday, April 26 through Tuesday, April 29, thereby giving students time to prepare for finals and thus encouraging them to strive for academic excellence

3. hold exams on Wednesday, April 30 - Friday, May 2, and then on Monday, May 5 - Wednesday, May 7.

4. Thursday, May 8 can be a last “move-out” day for the remaining students

5. Hold graduation ceremonies as desired, on Friday, May 9 and Saturday, May 10.

This schedule will maintain the current 6-day final exam schedule, will maintain the proposed 2-day graduation ceremonies schedule, will ADD a new reading period for students immediately prior to final exams, and will give faculty more time to grade final projects, papers, etc., which students turn in during the final week of the regular semester.
Resolution in Opposition to the Spring 2014 Exam Schedule
Caroline Lubert (Math & Statistics)

Whereas the recent decision to alter the Spring 2014 final exam schedule will likely harm student academic performance and undermine the goal of academic rigor (1) by removing a teaching day—Friday, May 2—from the teaching schedule, (2) by starting final exams immediately after the end of classes, thereby preventing any “prep” time for students, and (3) will rob students of valuable time during the last week of classes to complete research projects before taking final exams; and whereas the new exam schedule will require some faculty to arrange and pay for childcare on a weekend, and whereas the new exam schedule will place new, additional and unfair burdens on our adjunct faculty, and whereas the new exam schedule disregards faculty and students for whom Saturday may be the Sabbath and yet privileges those for whom Sunday is the Sabbath, and whereas the new exam schedule was made without any regard for faculty engagement on this issue, despite the fact that faculty are directly and substantially effected by it, we the Senate endorse this resolution as a sign of our opposition to the new schedule and to voice our profound disappointment in the way it was made.

There is no fee or other form of consideration required to enter this contest. You do not need to be present at the drawing to win.

2. Eligibility

A. All full-time JMU Instructional Faculty members are eligible to enter. Academic Unit Heads are defined as instructional faculty members.

B. Part-Time and Adjunct JMU faculty who have primary responsibility for the teaching of for-credit courses and have been continuously employed by JMU in such capacity for at least six consecutive semesters (three academic years) are eligible to enter. The status of Part-Time and Adjunct Faculty is defined in the Manual of Policies and Procedures, Policy 2104, Part-Time and Adjunct Faculty.

C. Those not eligible to enter the contest include Classified Staff members, Administrative and Professional (A&P) Faculty, Emeritus Faculty, Visiting Faculty, Scholars in Residence, and Researchers, as those terms are defined in the Faculty Handbook or University policies.

3. How to Enter

Announcement of the Faculty Senate Computer Lottery will be made via email announcement distributed to all eligible faculty members through the JMU email system, and will be posted on the Faculty Senate website, http://www.jmu.edu/facultysenate. To enter, an eligible faculty member must enter via the web link provided in the email by the announced deadline.

Any faculty member who believes he/she is eligible for the lottery but has not received an email announcement should contact the Faculty Senate Treasurer.

Only one entry is permitted from each eligible faculty member, and duplicate entries will be deleted.

Faculty may only win the computer lottery once in five years. Any entries received from faculty members who have won the computer lottery within the past five years will be deleted.
4. Contest Period

Announcement of the opening date for contest entries will be made in the fall of each year via email announcement distributed to all eligible faculty members through the JMU email system, and will be posted on the Faculty Senate website, http://www.jmu.edu/facultysenate. The email announcement will describe the procedure for entering the contest. When the announcement is made, faculty will have thirty (30) days in which to enter the contest. Any entries received after the announced deadline will be ignored.

5. Prize Drawing

On or about the date of the announced closing of the contest, the drawing will be performed by the Treasurer of the Faculty Senate by a method reasonably expected to produce random selections from among the eligible entries. The odds of winning will depend on the number of entries. The Treasurer of the Faculty Senate will announce the list of winning entries on the Faculty Senate website, and will notify individual winners by email within a reasonable period (not to exceed fourteen days) after the close of the contest.

6. Prize Awards

Winners will be entitled to receive up to $500 reimbursement for qualifying purchases. To receive the reimbursement, winning entrants must spend money on, and provide receipts for, qualifying purchases. Purchases must have been dated between September 1 and May 1 of the academic year in which the lottery was won. Receipts must be submitted no later than May 15 the academic year in which the lottery was won.

7. Eligible Purchases

Eligible purchases include:

-- Computer hardware, including desktop computers, laptops and tablets, as well as peripherals such as printers, networking devices, and external hard drives.
-- Software reasonably related to the enhancement of productivity and/or pedagogy
-- Digital cameras (still or motion) and video editing equipment/software
-- Electronic Book Readers, e.g., Kindle (hardware, but not specific books to read)
-- Technology training (that is not already available through JMU and that is relevant to teaching or research).

This grant is intended to enhance the knowledge, skills and productivity of JMU Faculty, and it is the intention of the Senate to allow faculty the discretion of how best to use the grant so long as the purchase seems reasonably related to a scholarly purpose. However, the Treasurer of the Faculty Senate has the authority to determine whether an expenditure meets these guidelines. If a lottery winner has questions concerning whether a proposed purchase meets the guidelines, it is advisable to request a ruling from the Treasurer on the proposed use before the purchase is made.
