Many scholarships require both academic merit and financial need:

To receive consideration for need-based scholarships, interested students must file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) in addition to this application. The first day you can submit your 2010-11 FAFSA is January 1, 2010, but you must file by March 1, 2010 to receive priority consideration for need-based assistance.

Departmental Scholarships

Some departments and colleges have scholarships to award as well. Contact the department of your major for more information.

Notification of Applicants

Scholarship recipients will receive notification of their selection during the month of July for the upcoming academic year. All applicants will receive a response from the financial aid office.

Follow these instructions to apply:

Submit only one application to apply for these scholarships awarded by the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships.

The application process is simple, just three steps.

1. Complete your application.
2. Save your completed application as a Microsoft Word document, using your proper name and student identification number (e.g., Jane Doe 101000100) as the file name.
3. Submit your electronic application to the financial aid office as an e-mail attachment from your JMU e-mail account. In the subject line, please type your proper name and student identification number (e.g., Jane Doe 101000100). Our e-mail address is scholarships@jmu.edu.

If you experience difficulty completing the electronic application, you may print the form, fill it out by hand, and submit the paper copy to the address on the application. You must fax or mail your paper application for receipt by January 19, 2010.

Incomplete or unsigned applications will not receive consideration.

Note: Current recipients of renewable scholarships may receive renewal consideration without submitting a new application.

The Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships must receive your application by midnight on this date:

Deadline:
January 19, 2010
