Employee Resource Groups, commonly known as ERGs, are organizationally supported employee groups that engage different generations, backgrounds, ethnicities and perspectives across all disciplines and will be a catalyst to engage our entire community in supporting the university’s mission, vision and values.

In alignment with the university’s core qualities, each ERG will encourage an exchange of ideas, promote a greater sense of belonging, and enhance career and personal development of employees in the workplace in support of recruitment and retention efforts.

Now Forming These Three Employee Resource Groups

- Tapestry
  - Ethnically diverse employees and those that enjoy sharing and learning about diverse backgrounds and promoting cultural awareness.

- Veterans
  - Active duty, reserve, veteran, guard, military family members, and supporters.

- WeCare
  - Working caregivers and those who support them in parenting, guardianship, grandparenting, or those assisting elders or individuals that are sick or living with a disability.
