About our charity:

The economic headlines have been hard to miss, and Madison's students have not been immune to the difficult times. While affordable compared to other institutions, paying tuition at JMU when one or both parents lose their jobs can be next to impossible. Just a few weeks into the 2009/ 2010 school year, financial aid appeals had already increased 26 percent over the whole of last year. That's why Madison For Keeps was created. Madison For Keeps is a special fundraising appeal to help these families and students complete their education at JMU.
