Housing and Dining Services

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Period of Contract: This contract, unless otherwise stated, is for the full academic year consisting of the fall and spring semesters of the same academic year. If student defers admission from the fall semester contract applies for spring semester only. See Section 5 and 6 for exceptions. Thus, the student agrees that, he/she will live in the university residence halls and take meals in university dining facilities for the entire period of the contract. Dining services under this contract will be provided as indicated below. The procedure for a student entering the university with a new contract for the spring semester beginning in January is the same as outlined for the fall semester.

2. Consideration of the JMU Residential Contract: Issued contracts are binding on the university only after a student has been admitted to the university by the director of admissions.

3. Period of Occupancy: The student may occupy an assigned room at the time specified by the university each semester. If the student fails to occupy the room by 5:00 p.m. on the first day of classes, the university reserves the right to reassign the space or initiate a contract cancellation. However, failure to occupy an assigned space does not automatically release the student from contractual obligation. Occupancy of the room must be relinquished at the completion of the contract. University housing facilities are closed during the periods between semesters, the Thanksgiving holiday and spring break. Residents who are not graduating are required to check out of their residence halls within 24 hours after their last exam but no later than 5:00p.m. Friday of exam week.

4. Refund Schedule: After five business days of receipt in the Office of Residence Life this contract will be binding for the entire 2014-2015 academic year. Students who have signed the JMU Residential Contract for the 2014-2015 academic year will owe and be charged full room rent and appropriate dining charges. Any termination of the JMU Residential Contract, subject to the terms and conditions in Sections 5 and 6, may qualify the resident for a refund or adjustment of room rent owed as outlined below.

A. By the resident student:

1. A student who fails to occupy an assigned room will remain obligated by the terms and conditions of the contract.

2. A resident student may initiate cancellation of the contract because of withdrawal from the university. The contract will be terminated after the student has officially withdrawn from the university with the appropriate written notification. A pro rata refund of dining charges will be made. 3. If the student withdraws from the university and re-enrolls during the same academic year, the office of residence life reserves the right to reinstate the contract from the date of re-enrollment for the remainder of the academic year.

4. A student who withdraws from the university prior to the end of the fall semester will not be subject to spring room rent charges as long as, by December 1st, he or she officially withdraws from the university and notifies the office of residence life and subsequently completes residence hall check out procedures by the last day of the fall semester.

6. If the student is authorized to leave the campus to participate in one of the university’s programs offered at a remote location, but the student has not completed graduation requirements, the housing rent will be suspended for the duration of the off-campus program and then reinstated for the remainder of the academic year.

7. If the student provides the Office of Residence Life with written documentation of a legal marriage, the student shall be entitled to a refund of the room rent, as outlined in Section 4, when the room is vacated and the student has properly checked out with hall staff.

8. Any student making a request to cancel a JMU Residential Contract during the academic year must provide appropriate written notification to the Office of Residence Life. Consideration for contract termination for reasons not listed above will be given only in cases that are deemed exceptional and unforeseeable, as determined by the director of residence life or her/his designee. If a contract termination is approved, the student will receive a refund as outlined in Section 4.

B. By the university:

1. If removal of the student from the residence hall occurs as the result of university disciplinary action or administrative withdrawal, the student will receive a pro rata refund of all dining fees. The student will not receive a refund of room rent.

2. The university reserves the right to terminate the contract if the student fails to meet the university’s academic requirements, in which case the student will receive a pro rata refund of all dining fees. A refund of room rent is available as outlined in Section 4, when the room is vacated and the student has properly checked out with hall staff.

3. The university reserves the right to terminate the contract if the student fails to maintain full-time registration for the period of the contract. Termination of the contract is at the discretion of the director of residence life or her/his designee. If the contract is terminated the student will receive a pro rata refund of all dining fees. A refund of room rent is available as outlined in Section 4, when the room is vacated and the student has properly checked out with hall staff.
7. Room Adjustments:

   A. No adjustment in the charge for room rent will be made because of absence from the university for periods during the academic year except as outlined above.

ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

   A. Each resident is required to abide by all university and residence hall policies, and with dining services policies. Policies are communicated through the JMU Residential Contract, the Student Handbook, the ORL Guidebook and the residence hall staff. It is the student’s responsibility to be familiar with this information.

   B. Breach of this contract or violation of any James Madison University policy may result in removal of the student from the residence hall with prior notice, except where the university determines that continued occupancy by the student may pose a danger to the life, safety or health of the student or other residents, in which case the resident may be removed without prior notice.

   C. In the event that room and/or dining accommodations assigned to the student are destroyed or made unavailable to the university and the university does not furnish other accommodations, the contract shall terminate. All rights and liabilities of the parties hereto shall cease and payments previously made by the student shall be refunded on a pro rata basis for the period for which accommodations were made unavailable to the student.

   D. In the event that a residence hall room, section, or building is determined by the university to be uninhabitable, and the university does not furnish other accommodations, the contract will terminate. All rights and liabilities of the parties hereto shall cease and payments previously made by the student shall be refunded on a pro rata basis for the period for which accommodations were made unavailable to the student.
E. The rights and privileges under the JMU Residential Contract are personal and may be exercised only by the student. Not even the student may transfer or assign any of the contract’s rights and privileges to another person without the university’s prior and express consent, nor may an intermediary party without the university’s consent relay the rights and privileges to the student. The university reserves the right to make all assignments and to make any assignment changes considered necessary.

F. Execution of the JMU Residential Contract is not a commitment of admission to James Madison University. Only currently enrolled students are permitted to live in the residence halls.

B. To accommodate occupancy overflow, the Office of Residence Life may randomly assign students to a space. Examples include, but are not limited to adding a third bed to a double occupancy room and/or the use of other available space. When temporary assignments are used, the Office of Residence Life will provide these residents with information regarding the reassignment process.

C. Students who withdraw from all classes and/or quit attending all classes during the academic year must vacate university housing and cease using university Dining Services immediately after the last date of attendance. Students who do not comply with this requirement will be held liable for room and dining charges beyond the last date of attendance and may be subject to university sanctions and/or legal proceedings.

D. Assigned residence hall rooms are to be used strictly as the student’s residence and for no other purpose. Residents may not use the residence hall, the assigned room or any equipment or facilities found in the hall or the room (i.e. Ethernet connection) for purposes of conducting a personal business or engaging in any illegal activity.

E. The office of residence life may amend or cancel a student’s contract, if the University determines the student’s actions, general behavior or continued presence in the residence hall jeopardizes or is reasonably likely to jeopardize the health, safety or well-being of the student or any other resident. If the contract is cancelled, notwithstanding any other provision(s) in this contract, the student shall be entitled to a refund of appropriate fees as outlined in Section 4.

F. In order to ensure the safe and efficient operation of the University, or to protect its interests or the interests of its employees or students, the university reserves the right to alter or cancel any residence hall contract if it determines that a resident’s behavior or criminal activity (regardless of when such behavior or criminal activity occurred) renders such an alteration or cancellation necessary. The University may decline to offer (or revoke an offer) of on campus housing for the same reason. If the contract is cancelled, notwithstanding any other provision(s) in this contract, the student shall be entitled to a refund of appropriate fees as outlined in Section 4.

G. The university does not assume any legal obligation to pay for the loss of or damage to items of personal property of the student which occurs in its buildings or on its grounds, prior to, during or subsequent to the period of the contract. The student’s responsibility for damage includes, but is not limited to, damage to room furnishings and damage caused from either inside the room or outside the room to doors, windows and screens. J. If one of the occupants of a room moves or a room is not fully occupied, the student(s) who remain agree(s) to accept an assigned roommate(s) or to move to another room upon request. The individual student is responsible for selecting a compatible roommate. If the student does not select a roommate, the Office of Residence Life will fill the vacancy either by consolidating assignments or assigning another student to the vacancy.

O. Each resident is required to maintain his/her room in an acceptably safe and sanitary condition. The residence hall staff will periodically inspect the rooms to assess safety and sanitary conditions.

P. The university reserves the right to enter a student’s room/suite to perform routine or emergency repairs or maintenance. In such cases it is the student’s responsibility to ensure access to the areas needing repair and to protect personal property against damage. The university also reserves the right to enter a student’s room/suite as deemed appropriate for reasons including, but not limited to health concerns, safety concerns and suspected violation of university or residence hall policies.

Q. At the termination of the contract period, or when moving to a new room assignment, a student must turn in his/her key(s) and have the condition of his/her room assessed by residence hall staff as part of the residence hall check out procedure. The student(s) who vacates his/her room without properly checking out will be billed the appropriate fee. In cases where damages are incurred beyond normal wear and tear, the student(s) will be charged for the expense involved in returning the room(s) to a usable condition.

R. Personal property will be considered abandoned if left in or near the residence halls after a student vacates his/her room. The university will not take responsibility for such items and items will not be held by the university. Such items are subject to disposal or recycling as deemed appropriate.

3. Dining Services Information:

A. Under this contract, James Madison University will offer lunch and dinner seven days per week, during advertised meal hours, in Gibbons Hall, and breakfast Monday through Friday, during advertised meal hours, in Gibbons Hall. The meals will be available beginning with the first evening meal period after each official opening and ending with the last full meal period before each official closing of the residence halls. The contract holder may avail himself/herself of these meals according to the terms and conditions of the dining plan option he/she selects hereunder. Should Gibbons Hall become inoperable, the contract holder agrees to accept, at the university’s discretion, meals served at a temporary food service facility or a pro rata refund for missed meals. Important exception: Certain students receive no dining privileges under this contract. Residents of apartments (including walnut/grace area and any additional off-campus, kitchen-equipped, university-leased or sponsored housing) and residence hall staff members may be excluded from the dining services benefits of this contract, and the cost of this contract for such students will be reduced accordingly. If any of these students desire a dining plan, however, they may purchase one separate of this contract from the Office of Card Services in Warren Hall. If any of these students move from dining plan-excluded housing, as listed above, to university housing where dining is automatically included with the room, they will be immediately provided with a dining plan and billed for same on a pro rata basis effective the date of the move. University dining facilities are closed during the periods between semesters, the Thanksgiving holiday and spring break.
B. No adjustment in the charge for dining will be made for late entrances of 10 days or less or for absences of less than 14 days, except in the case of hospital confinement where adjustment is made for absences of seven days or longer. Refunds will not be given for meals missed due to academic scheduling problems, trips taken by the resident for academic or extracurricular purposes, or for conflicts with the student’s academic or non-academic work schedules. Refunds for dining will be made when the student participates in student teaching or practicum study mandated by the Division of Academic Affairs that necessitates the student missing seven or more consecutive meals in two or more consecutive weeks.

C. To be admitted to each meal available under this contract, the student must present an operable university access card to the Dining Services cashier at the entrance to the dining facility. No refunds will be made for meals missed due to the student’s failure to present an operable university access card.

D. Dining Services refunds or reduced rates cannot be made because of special dietary requirements. However, the university’s registered dietitian may confidentially counsel interested contract holders, at no additional cost.

E. All resident students have the option of selecting a resident meal plan option, if no choice is made students are automatically placed on the least expensive resident meal plan option available. All students have the option to change their meal plan selection (within the resident plans offered). Meal plan changes begin 1 week after classes begin and continue for the next three weeks. After the fourth week of classes, changes to meal plans are no longer accepted.

F. Students changing from a more expensive resident meal plan to a less expensive resident meal plan will receive credit in the form of a nonrefundable dining services declining-balance account that must be used within the academic year. Students changing to a more expensive resident meal plan option will be required to pay a prorated charge. A processing fee of $10 will be assessed for any changes to a resident meal plan made between the dates outlined above in item E. The fee is above and beyond any credits owed or payments required in the change of the plan option.
Errors that may occur in the posting or publication of the contract will not change the intended terms and conditions of the JMU Residential Contract. Corrections of any such errors will be made in writing and provided to each contract holder.

In consideration of the university’s agreement to provide the student a space in the university residential facilities, and one of the offered dining meal plans, and telecommunication service for residential students, I hereby agree to comply with the provisions of this contract and to pay in full for room and board in accordance with the billing instructions from James Madison University for the entire 2014-2015 academic year.
