

Loudoun County Public Schools proudly announces...

“Making Sense of Autism: Understanding and Supporting Students Using a Sensory Diet to Prevent Meltdowns and Promote Learning”

...featuring Susan Golubock, OT/R

Tuesday, August 22, 2006
Harper Park Middle School
8:30-3:30 (registration begins at 8:00)
Lunch and Refreshments Provided

As a person on the Autism Spectrum, Sue Golubock speaks from her personal experience and expertise. This extraordinary presenter will look at the differences in responses of individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorders to sensory stimuli and will identify the strengths as well as limitations in these differences. Ms. Golubock will also identify what constitutes a sensory “diet” and how to work it in to daily routines.

You will register for this workshop in one of three ways:

1. If you are a LCPS employee, please register through My Learning Plan. You will receive six (6) recertification points for your participation in this workshop. (Please do not complete the registration form if you are a LCPS employee.)
2. If you are a parent or family member of a person with autism within Loudoun County, please complete the registration form and mail. Your registration for this workshop is free of charge.
3. If you are someone interested in attending this workshop and you are outside Loudoun County, please complete the registration form and mail along with your nominal fee of $25 (made payable to Loudoun County Public Schools). Lunch will be provided onsite.

Please register early. Return the completed registration form to Charlotte Crane, M.Ed., BCBA, Autism Resource Specialist, LCPS, Administration Building, 4th Floor, 21000 Education Court, Ashburn, VA 20148. Phone (571) 252-1011 or fax the form to Ms. Crane at (571) 252-1244.
