

2018 Recipients of the Provost's Diversity Grant

- Howard Lubert, Political Science: to create a new course entitled "African-American Political Thought."
- Emily Westkaemper, History: to create a new course in History entitled "Women at Work in U.S. History."
- Joshua Streeter, Theatre and Dance: to create a new course in "Drama and Diversity" incorporating inclusionary practices in theatre education and performance.
- Cathy McKay, Kinesiology: to revise and research best practices for inclusive education for students with disabilities in KIN 655.
- Daniel Morales, History: to create two new courses (History of Latinx populations; History of Immigration) and incorporate a multi-year oral history project.
- Kara Kavanagh, Education: to revise a new course, ELED 501 (Teaching Culturally Linguistically, and Socioeconomically Diverse Students) to better incorporate inclusivity outcomes.
- Stephanie Baller, Health Sciences: to revise an existing course, (HTH 150) to include an introductory unit on diversity for undergraduates in Health Sciences.