

Decomposers—descomponedores

bracket fungus —
hongo de soporte

a different kind of fungus —
un tipo diferente de hongo

earthworm — lombriz

?

Something
else —
otra cosa

Pill bug —
insecto de la píldora

Producers—productores

seeds — semillas

moss — musgo

lichen — liquen

(in Spring) Virginia bluebells —
(en primavera) campanillas de virginia

Fern — helecho

?

Something
else —
otra cosa

Consumers—consumidores

blue jay — arrendajo azul

Red-shouldered hawk —
halcón de hombros rojos

squirrel — ardilla

cardinal—cardenal

spider — araña

?

Something else — otra cosa

Evidence of Consumers — evidencia de los consumidores

woodpecker holes —
hoyos de pájaro carpintero

squirrel nest (drey)—
nido de ardilla

Animal Tracks — Huellas de animales

RABBIT Cotton-Tail Rabbit	An illustration of a rabbit and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.
SQUIRREL Red Fox Squirrel	An illustration of a squirrel and four examples of its paw prints, which are smaller and more rounded than rabbit prints.
OPOSSUM Possum	An illustration of an opossum and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have very prominent toe marks.
SKUNK Striped Skunk	An illustration of a skunk and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.
DEER MOUSE Deer Mouse	An illustration of a deer mouse and four examples of its paw prints, which are very small and have distinct toe marks.
RACCOON Raccoon	An illustration of a raccoon and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.
WOODCHUCK Ground Hog	An illustration of a woodchuck and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.
COYOTE Coyote	An illustration of a coyote and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.
DEER White-Tailed	An illustration of a deer and four examples of its paw prints, which are large and have distinct toe marks.