Professional Development in Assessment at James Madison University Meeting your professional development needs in assessment: from beginner workshops to a PhD and everything in between.

Ph.D. in Assessment and Measurement and/or M.A. in Psychological Sciences

Competence of the state of the Accredited graduate programs offering a M.A. or Ph.D. from James Madison University. Most Structured M.A. (36 credit hours) focused in guantitative psychology. Ph.D. (min 57 credit hours). Now offering an M.A. to Ph.D. option for highly gualified B.A./B.S. candidates.

Higher Education Assessment Specialist Certificate Program

Graduate certificate program consisting of 12 total credit hours. These four courses cover the foundations of measurement and assessment design, instrument design, public policy related to assessment, and assessment consultation. B.A./B.S. degree required.

Structured Workshops (Assessment 101)

Real-time, facilitated by our team; held *in-person or virtually. Hands-on learning opportunities. Assessment 101 is a week-long workshop offered in the summer. Vouice Intermediate *In-person not offered in 2021

CARS Website Resources

Most Flexible Static resources on our website that can be accessed at any time for self-paced learning.

Our professional development opportunities map to the Assessment Skills Framework (Horst & Prendergast, 2020) and span from novice and intermediate to advanced. Our graduate programs offer comprehensive instruction from start to finish. Whether you're looking for a published resource, informational videos, a hands-on, interactive workshop, or a graduate education in higher education assessment - we have something for you! Reach out to us for more information:

https://cars-pd-contact-us.guestionpro.com

The Center for Assessment and Research Studies