Professional Development in Assessment at James Madison University Meeting your professional development needs in assessment: from beginner workshops to a PhD and everything in between.

Ph.D. in Assessment and Measurement and/or M.A. in Psychological Sciences

Comprehensive Advanced The Psychological Sciences, M.A. (36 credit hours) focuses on Quantitative Psychology and the Ph.D. (57 credit hours) in Assessment and Measurement is a premier doctoral program. Both programs offer guaranteed paid assistantships.

Higher Education Assessment Specialist Certificate Program

This graduate certificate can be completed 100% online and is comprised of four 3-credit hour courses. With a mix of synchronous and asynchronous content this credential covers the foundations of measurement, instrument design, public policy related to assessment, and assessment consultation.

Assessment 101

Offered in the summer, this intensive, weeklong, virtual workshop includes both synchronous and asynchronous engagement.

Resource Library

Static resources on our website that can be accessed at any time for self-paced learning.

Click on any of the titles to learn more!

Our professional development opportunities map to the Assessment Skills Framework (Horst & Prendergast, 2020) and span from novice and intermediate to advanced. Our graduate programs offer comprehensive instruction from start to finish. Whether you're looking for a published resource, informational videos, a hands-on, interactive workshop, or a graduate education in higher education assessment - we have something for you! Reach out to us for more information:

https://cars-pd-contact-us.guestionpro.com