

“In my first year, I was really excited that a center for faculty innovation existed. A lot of what I do is network with faculty to create community engagement projects and to work with people on digital media projects so, CFI is a home away from home for me in many ways. It is a core organization on campus that helps us think about and practice engagement in a meaningful way across the disciplines with the students and with the community. CFI is a space and a network of people and ideas that are available to faculty on campus to improve their teaching to support their research and to support the community on campus and not every university has something like the CFI so I’m really grateful for having them around and the amazing programming they do.”

Seán McCarthy