Most of the photography in this program was created before the COVID-19 pandemic began. In the imagery you see here, campus life looks much different than it does during the pandemic. Masks and social distancing are important ways Dukes show they support each other and the greater community.
A Message from the President of JMU

WELCOME TO THE COMMENCEMENT OF JAMES MADISON UNIVERSITY.

It is my great pleasure to welcome you back to campus today to celebrate the class of 2020 – you worked especially hard and have been exceptionally patient to get to this moment, and I am delighted that we are able to have you back on campus to recognize your achievements in person.

This is a commencement like no other, and has been over a year in the making. You have persevered under circumstances that were unimaginable when you started your journey at JMU, but you stepped up to that challenge and emerged stronger and more prepared to face the challenges ahead.

Today is also a day of celebration for those who have contributed to your success. You had support along your JMU journey from many people including your friends, family, and the dedicated faculty and staff members who mentored and guided you along the way. Make sure you take time to thank them for their efforts and encouragement.

Our university mission statement affirms our commitment to preparing graduates to be educated and enlightened citizens who lead productive and meaningful lives. In addition to the expertise you gained inside the classroom, it is our expectation that you are prepared to be thoughtful and informed contributors to society. With your JMU education, I am confident that you have the tools and the mindset to continue to explore new ideas and remain open to a variety of perspectives. I also hope you will keep asking yourself how you can use your gifts, energy and knowledge to make a positive difference in the lives of others. Your commitments to lifelong learning and service will lead to more fulfilling careers and lives.

Today you join the ranks of over 140,000 alumni of James Madison University. You are in distinguished company, and you will forever be Dukes. So please stay in contact and come back often. Maintain relationships with faculty and staff, read Madison Magazine, and keep in touch with your classmates.

Congratulations again on your graduation. I wish you the best in all your future endeavors.

JONATHAN R. ALGER
The official seal of James Madison University is based upon the baronial 13th-century coat of arms of the Madison family. The shape of the shield signifies its historic periods and the symbols are original. The mantling and insignia are black upon a silver shield with two black chevrons, each charged with a golden star. The torch in the crest position signifies enlightenment, and the motto, “Knowledge is Liberty,” is derived from quotations by James Madison.

“Learned Institutions ought to be favorite objects with every free people. They throw that light over the public mind which is the best security against crafty and dangerous encroachments on the public liberty.”

—James Madison in a letter to William T. Barry, 4 Aug. 1822, DLC: Madison Papers

James Madison University is the only university named for James Madison, the Father of the U.S. Constitution and fourth president of the United States. In many ways the connection to Mr. Madison’s legacy is much deeper than the name only. As we celebrate commencement, it is important for us to bring Mr. Madison to life for our university community. Acknowledging Madison is not intended as a history lesson. We believe that understanding Madison and his achievements is understanding liberty and its foundations. If each graduate can leave this university with that awareness crowning their outstanding JMU education, then liberty can be multiplied wherever they may go. James Madison University will proudly send nearly 4,500 agents of liberty and social harmony to the Commonwealth of Virginia and throughout the world.
James Madison University was founded on March 14, 1908, when Virginia Gov. Claude A. Swanson signed the legislation creating the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Harrisonburg. Early in the 20th century, the General Assembly, responding to a growing interest in public higher education in Virginia, authorized the establishment of a new normal school for the education of women teachers. ("Normal" schools were so named because they were supposed to set the standard — or "norm" — for excellence.)

The idea of a new college was highly attractive to communities throughout the commonwealth. There was widespread competition in the state with 28 cities and towns making a case to be the site for the new school. State Sen. George B. Keezell and Del. P.B.F. Good of Rockingham County led the efforts for Harrisonburg in the State Senate and House of Delegates. The school began classes on Sept. 30, 1909, with an enrollment of 150 students and 15 faculty members in two buildings on a 50-acre campus. Today’s James Madison University has over 22,000 students, more than 2,500 faculty and staff, and a 785-acre campus with more than 130 buildings.

Spring 2020 blew all our commencement plans out the window, to say the least. Nevertheless some enterprising JMU graduates took time to get their photos taken around a generally abandoned campus!

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME of cap and gown worn by the faculty and students in today’s commencement had its origin in the universities of the Middle Ages. Although the exact reason for the original use of the costume is not known, it is presumed that there was a very practical reason as medieval scholars probably wore the gown and hood for warmth in their unheated buildings. Students of that era wore their gowns daily, setting them apart from fellow citizens and giving rise to the term “town and gown.” In the United States, caps and gowns were worn daily by students at most American universities until the time of the Civil War.

The sleeves of the gown indicate the degree held by the wearer. Closed, pointed sleeves are used for the bachelor’s gown; oblong sleeves, open at the wrist, for the master’s gown; and bell-shaped sleeves, with three velvet bars, for the doctor’s gown. Gowns for the bachelor’s and master’s degrees are untrimmed. For the doctoral degree, the gown has full-length velvet panels in front, either black or of a color symbolizing the wearer’s field of learning. The hood is a separate ornamental fold hanging down the back of the gown. An outside band of velvet on the hood varies in width according to the degree: two inches for the bachelor’s; three for the master’s; and five for the doctor’s. The color of the band and other velvet on the doctoral hood symbolizes the field of learning. The length of the hood also varies with the degree; the longer the hood, the more advanced the degree. The lining of the hood carries the colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

The cap worn is usually the mortarboard, decorated with a tassel in a color symbolizing the field of higher learning. Standard colors are used to represent the various academic disciplines. Gold tassels may be worn by holders of doctoral degrees, and some master’s tassels are white. For the doctor’s degree, the cap is velvet. Candidates for degrees wear tassels on the right side of the mortarboard and then shift them to the left in unison when the degree is conferred.

HONOR CORDS AND STOLES
Graduates are permitted to wear cords, stoles, medals and pins on their commencement gowns. Honor cords are typically lengths of cording with small tassels on each end. They are worn draped around the neck and allowed to dangle down the gown’s facings. Occasionally the cords are made of two strands twisted together to show two colors. Stoles are made of satin or velvet and resemble a man’s oversized necktie with two wide ends and draped around the neck to hang loosely down the gown’s front. They are usually embroidered with an insignia. These accessories typically identify students who have earned academic honors, completed university honors curriculums; or held membership in honor societies. The popularity of this practice has led other campus organizations to wear cords and/or stoles.

Starship food delivery robots descend on the campus to deliver food to dorms and offices.
It is my great joy to join with our faculty, staff and administrators in saying congratulations to the class of 2020. So much has occurred since you first arrived on our campus. We expected you to learn, to grow and to change, though we didn't anticipate just how significant that growth and those changes would be as we all responded to world events. Some of your time here may have been different than what you anticipated, and you've shown exceptional adaptability that will serve you well as you move on from our campus community.

I'm proud of the people you have become, the intellectual curiosity you have shown and the challenges you rose to meet. Your time at JMU and the transformative learning experiences you experienced while you were here have given you the tools to positively impact your future and that of your community. I hope when you look back at your JMU experience that, in addition to the beauty of the campus, the memories you created, and the strength of the friendships you made, you'll remember the passion of your faculty and the talent they awoke in you.

Good luck with all that your future holds.

The Graduate School of James Madison University was established in 1954. The image of Mr. Madison’s Temple exemplifies his intelligence, his love of the classics, natural beauty and the useful and practical ways of men. The civic architecture, reminiscent of the ancient republic of Rome, was chosen by James Madison to symbolize his vision for the new American republic. Madison’s quote that “Knowledge will forever govern ignorance; and a people who mean to be their own governors, must arm themselves with the power which knowledge gives” is at the heart of graduate education.

The JMU Graduate School has a rich history of offering high-quality programs to serve its student body. Classes were first offered in cooperation with the University of Virginia in 1951. Our initial courses offered specialized teacher education programs, and the JMU Graduate School was established in 1954, when the State Board of Education authorized the university to offer programs leading to the Master of Science in Education degree. Our offerings gradually expanded to 48 degree programs, many with multiple concentrations, and nine graduate certificate programs. JMU launched its first doctoral program in 2002; we now offer eight doctoral programs. Graduate programs are offered in each of the seven academic colleges within the university.

Valedictorian Elizabeth Elia is an Independent Scholars major studying Social Justice through Education Policy with a minor in Honors Interdisciplinary Studies. She is from King George, Virginia. During her time at JMU, Elizabeth was involved in the Alternative Break Program, Delta Gamma Fraternity, and Cru. She is also a member of Phi Sigma Tau, the philosophy honors society, and the Honors College, where she served as an Honors Teaching Assistant. She spent two years working for Community Service-Learning as a Service-Learning Coordinator and an Alternative Spring Break Coordinator. Elizabeth served as an Alternative Break leader for three Alternative Breaks, a mentor for the Valley Scholars Program, and volunteered with Explore More Discovery Museum throughout her time at JMU. She also worked in conjunction with Cru to launch Greek Ministry on campus. During her senior year, she pursued research in Equitable Education for Newcomer Students for her Honors Capstone and in conjunction with Harrisonburg High School. Elizabeth has a passion for Christian ministry, and hopes to pursue a career in full-time ministry that will allow her to work with interpersonal relationships and social justice causes.

Student Speaker Lauren Springer is graduating with a degree in Management with a concentration in Human Resources Management, and a minor in Criminal Justice. She grew up in Richmond, Virginia. During her time at JMU, she was an active member of Kappa Alpha Theta. She was also the Vice President and Treasurer of the American Criminal Justice Association. She was honored to have been chosen for Madison Royal Court this past fall. Lauren is most grateful for the constant love and support she has received from the JMU community. She wouldn’t be the person she is today without the unforgettable experiences she has had at JMU. To her family and friends who have always believed in her, thank you! After graduation, Lauren will be moving to Arlington, Virginia and starting as a Technology Engineer Analyst at Accenture Federal Services.

The bars on the lower left indicate the various roads leading to JMU. The bars toward the right edge represent the many avenues available to students graduating from the College of Education. The unbroken circle portrays education as the link between who we were and who we have become. The bars at the top and bottom of the banner symbolize lifelong learning.

The mission of University Studies is to coordinate and support campus-wide endeavors that enhance intellectual development and foster the enlightened citizenship of all undergraduates. The outreaching rays of the flag symbolize the academic projects we coordinate, which encompass the JMU campus as a whole. The scroll design, entwined throughout the University Studies name, symbolizes University Studies’ role as an umbrella organization supporting interdisciplinary academic programs that intersect multiple departments and colleges.

The Mobius strip is the symbol of the College of Integrated Science and Engineering. Its single side signifies how a variety of perspectives, both technical and non-technical, come together to help solve complicated problems. The superimposed globe represents the many scales at which we work—from local to global—and the pixelation of the continents highlight the importance of computing to the college. The colors of the flag symbolize the college's focus on sustainability.

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS

Developed in 2018, our logo reflects the collaborative nature across the natural and physical sciences. The colors are drawn from the visible electromagnetic spectrum and represent the science and mathematics disciplines in our college, and the shape mirrors the dynamic, rapid pace of the discovery and progress that happens here. New ideas are sparked where the segments of the “wave” of innovation meet.

PHI BETA KAPPA HONOR SOCIETY

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest academic honor society in America, and is a leading advocate for the liberal arts and sciences. The James Madison University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established in spring 2010 as the Xi of Virginia chapter. To be eligible for membership, students must meet these conditions: high academic achievement, a liberal arts and sciences major, demonstrated knowledge of college-level mathematics and foreign language through the intermediate level, and at least 90 credit hours in liberal arts and sciences course work.

ARMY ROTC

The James Madison University Army ROTC Duke Battalion mission is to recruit, develop, educate and provide quality leadership training, practical hands-on experience and Army values character development in order to commission agile and adaptive leaders to serve as the future officer leadership in the Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard. Additionally, it is our mission to motivate young people through caring leadership to be better citizens committed to lifelong service of the community and nation. The program offers two-, three- and four-year options, allowing students to complete the requirements to earn a commission as an Army officer. The three- and four-year programs consist of a basic course and an advanced course. A two-year option allows students with at least two academic years remaining in either undergraduate or graduate studies to complete all requirements for commissioning as a second lieutenant in the active Army, National Guard or Reserves. Additionally, students not intending to pursue a career in the military will gain valuable leadership, teambuilding and communication skills, which transfer into marketable civilian job skills. James Madison University’s chain of office and university medallion will be worn by President Jonathan R. Alger during today’s commencement ceremony. The chain of office refers to the authority granted to the president by the JMU Board of Visitors and the Commonwealth of Virginia to confer degrees and lead the university. The chain and medallion were created in 1999 by Ronald J. Wyancko, retired professor of art and art history, who also created the university mace. Creation of the institutional chain and medallion was made possible through a gift from the JMU Parents Council. The chain of office is made of sterling silver and two gems — a golden citrine and a purple amethyst — reflecting JMU’s school colors. The gems are set in the circular sterling silver medallions that are incorporated into the chain. One medallion is textured like bluestone to symbolize the older buildings on JMU’s campus. The other medallion features a brick texture to reflect the university’s newer buildings. The university medallion that hangs from the chain features the seal of James Madison University, the university’s name and the date of its founding, 1908. The design for the JMU seal is based on the coat of arms of the Madison family and contains the words “Knowledge is Liberty,” a quotation from James Madison.

The University Chain of Office and University Medallion

The University Ceremonial Mace

Once a fierce battle weapon, the mace began losing its warlike image eight centuries ago when it started to become a symbol of peaceful leadership. Kings began removing spikes from their maces and encrusting them with jewels and precious metals for ceremonial use. Since then, the mace has been used in ceremonial processions as an ensign of authority. The James Madison University mace was first used in 1979 on Founders Day (now James Madison Day). It is carried by the marshal of the JMU Faculty Senate during all formal faculty processions.

Funds for the mace were donated by the JMU Class of 1943. Commissioned by the JMU Faculty Senate, the mace was created by Ronald J. Wyancko, retired professor of art and art history. The mace is made of sterling silver, 14 karat gold, rosewood and ebony. It weighs four pounds and stands 37 inches high. The upper node of the mace is textured to symbolize the blue limestone used on the original buildings on campus. The lower node represents the brick used on newer buildings. The JMU crest is at the top of the mace. The butt cap of the mace is inlaid with the name of the university and the date of its founding. There are five ebony designs around the main node of the mace: President James Madison, the State Seal of the Commonwealth of Virginia, a book representing the search for knowledge, the flame of eternal truth and Wilson Hall representing the JMU campus.
“The difference between what we do and what we are capable of doing would suffice to solve most of the world's problems.”
