“Learned Institutions ought to be favorite objects with every free people. They throw that light over the public mind which is the best security against crafty and dangerous encroachments on the public liberty.”

—James Madison

A Message from the President of JMU

Welcome to the December Commencement of James Madison University.

Congratulations to each of our graduates – you have worked hard and persevered to get to this moment, and together we celebrate your achievement. Well done!

This is also a day of celebration for those who have contributed to your success. You have had support along your journey from many people including your family, friends, classmates, and the dedicated faculty and staff who have mentored and guided you along the way. Make sure you take the time to thank them for all they have done to help you reach this important milestone in your life.

Our university mission statement affirms our commitment to preparing graduates to be educated and enlightened citizens who lead productive and meaningful lives. In addition to the expertise you gained in the classroom, it is our expectation that your education has prepared you to be a thoughtful, active and informed contributor to society. I encourage you to continue to explore new ideas and stay open to a wide variety of perspectives. Make a commitment to lifelong learning, and keep your love of knowledge alive.

Today you join the ranks of over 152,000 alumni of James Madison University. You are in distinguished company, and you will forever be a Duke. Please stay in contact with the university and keep your connection to Madison alive. Maintain relationships with faculty, read Madison Magazine, and keep up to date by visiting the website or following the official JMU social media channels. I hope you will return to campus for university events.

Congratulations again on your graduation. I wish you the best in all your future endeavors.

Jonathan R. Alger

James Madison University
The official seal of James Madison University is based upon the baronial 13th century coat of arms of the Madison family. The shape of the shield signifies its historic periods and the symbols are original. The mantling and insignia are black upon a silver shield with two black chevrons, each charged with a golden star. The torch in the crest position signifies enlightenment, and the motto, “Knowledge is Liberty,” is derived from quotations by James Madison.

James Madison University is the only university named for James Madison, the Father of the U.S. Constitution and fourth president of the United States. In many ways the connection to Mr. Madison’s legacy is much deeper than the name only. As we celebrate commencement, it is important for us to bring Mr. Madison to life for our university community. Acknowledging Madison is not intended as a history lesson. We believe that understanding Madison and his achievements is understanding liberty and its foundations. If each graduate can leave this university with that awareness crowning their outstanding JMU education, then liberty can be multiplied wherever they may go. James Madison University will proudly send nearly 4,500 agents of liberty and social harmony to the Commonwealth of Virginia and throughout the world.
James Madison University was founded on March 14, 1908, when Virginia Gov. Claude A. Swanson signed the legislation creating the State Normal and Industrial School for Women at Harrisonburg. Early in the 20th century, the General Assembly, responding to a growing interest in public higher education in Virginia, authorized the establishment of a new normal school for the education of women teachers. ("Normal" schools were so named because they were supposed to set the standard — or "norm" — for excellence.)

The idea of a new college was highly attractive to communities throughout the commonwealth. There was widespread competition in the state with 28 cities and towns making a case to be the site for the new school. State Sen. George B. Keezell and Del. P.B.F. Good of Rockingham County led the efforts for Harrisonburg in the State Senate and House of Delegates. The school began classes on Sept. 30, 1909, with an enrollment of 150 students and 15 faculty members in two buildings on a 50-acre campus. Today’s James Madison University has over 22,000 students, more than 3,000 faculty and staff, and a 785-acre campus with more than 130 buildings.
THE MACE has been used in ceremonial processions as an ensign of authority. It is carried by the marshal of the JMU Faculty Senate during all formal university processions. Funds for the mace were donated by the JMU Class of 1943. Commissioned by the JMU Faculty Senate, the mace was created by Ronald J. Wyancko, retired professor of art and art history, and first used in 1979. The mace is made of sterling silver, 14 karat gold, rosewood and ebony. The upper node of the mace is textured to symbolize the blue limestone. The lower node represents the brick used on other buildings. The JMU crest is at the top of the mace. There are five ebony designs around the main node of the mace: President James Madison, the Seal of the Commonwealth of Virginia, a book representing the search for knowledge, the flame of eternal truth and Wilson Hall representing the JMU campus.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME of cap and gown worn by the faculty and students in today’s commencement had its origin in the universities of the Middle Ages. The sleeves of the gown indicate the degree held by the wearer. Closed, pointed sleeves are used for the bachelor’s gown; oblong sleeves, open at the wrist, for the master’s gown; and bell-shaped sleeves, with three velvet bars, for the doctor’s gown. For the doctoral degree, the gown has full-length velvet panels in front, either black or of a color symbolizing the wearer’s field of learning. The length of the hood also varies with the degree; the longer the hood, the more advanced the degree. The lining of the hood carries the colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

HONOR CORDS AND STOLES

Graduates are permitted to wear cords, stoles, medals and pins on their commencement gowns. These accessories typically identify students who have earned academic honors, completed university honors curriculums; or held membership in honor societies. The popularity of this practice has led other campus organizations to wear cords and/or stoles.

THE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER
CHARLES T. MAY JR. (’83)

Charles T. May Jr. is a 1983 JMU graduate with a Bachelor of Science in Communications from the College of Arts and Letters. He has a master’s degree in Organizational and Military Leadership from the American Military University. Charles is a retired executive from the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS); and senior field grade officer from the U.S. Army Reserves (USAR). He currently serves as CEO and Managing Partner for Cooke & May (C&M) LLC.

Charles May is committed to the community and his leadership abilities allow him to teach, coach, and mentor others to lead, build financial independence, stability, and maintain continued positive impact in the community. His tireless grass roots efforts in the area has him labeled as one of the most respected leaders in the community as evidenced by his National Mentorship award in 2019 from Access Minority Inc. Charles is married with three adult daughters and one grandson.

THE CENTENNIAL SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Centennial Scholars Program provides financial assistance and a multi-level academic support network to retain eligible under-represented students. We believe that qualified and deserving Virginia students who are not able to finance the cost of attending college should have the opportunity to graduate from a higher-education institution. In addition, we feel a holistic support system is essential in order to provide assistance and help students grow throughout their undergraduate careers.

The marshals in our ceremony are represented by JMU students who are part of the Centennial Scholars Program. They are:

- Xavier Adkins (’24)
- Lise Briggs (’24)
- Cole Burton (’26)
- Kianna Butts (’24)
- Jomya Ford (’23)
- Tessa Lohens (’24)
- Guillermo López (’26)
- Mairany Munoz (’26)
- Charles Owen (’24)
- Mariah Paras (’26)
- Laila Westcott (’25)
The JMU Graduate School has a rich history of offering high-quality programs to serve its student body. Classes were first offered in cooperation with the University of Virginia in 1951. Initial graduate courses offered specialized teacher education programs, and State Board of Education authorized the university to offer programs leading to the Master of Science in Education degree in 1954. The first online graduate degree program was established in 1997, and the first doctoral program in 2002. JMU now offers 53 degree programs at the master’s level, 2 Educational Specialist degrees and 8 doctoral degree programs. Graduate programs are offered in each of the seven academic colleges within the university.

The focal point of the flag is a globe in motion, propelled by energy as suggested by the design around it. The facets of the globe symbolize the complex and interconnected aspects of the global business environment and the many disciplines taught within the College of Business. The energy and movement portrayed symbolize the college’s influence and impact through preparing students to engage with the business world as principled leaders and professionals. Use of the academic color for business as the background anchors all in the context of business education.

The bars on the lower left indicate the various roads leading to JMU. The bars toward the right edge represent the many avenues available to students graduating from the College of Education. The unbroken circle portrays education as the link between who we were and who we have become. The bars at the top and bottom of the banner symbolize lifelong learning.

The mission of University Studies is to coordinate and support campus-wide endeavors that enhance intellectual development and foster the enlightened citizenship of all undergraduates. The outreaching rays of the flag symbolize the academic projects University Studies coordinates, which encompass the JMU campus as a whole. The scroll design, entwined throughout the University Studies name, symbolizes University Studies’ role as an umbrella organization supporting interdisciplinary academic programs that intersect multiple departments and colleges.

The School of Professional and Continuing Education advances JMU’s vision by responding to individual, business, and community needs through transformative educational programs and experiences. The fountain symbolizes the endless knowledge that springs forth from our students into the communities where they live, work, and play. The colors of purple and gold embrace SPCE’s alignment with the university. The range in shades celebrates the array of students the school serves and the continuum of learning over a lifetime.

COLLEGE OF INTEGRATED SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

The Mobius strip is the symbol of the College of Integrated Science and Engineering. Its single side signifies how a variety of perspectives, both technical and non-technical, come together to help solve complicated problems. The superimposed globe represents the many scales at which we work—from local to global—and the pixilation of the continents highlights the importance of computing to the college. The colors of the flag symbolize the college’s focus on sustainability.

20 JAMES MADISON UNIVERSITY
Developed in 2018, the CSM logo reflects the collaborative nature across the natural and physical sciences. The colors are drawn from the visible electromagnetic spectrum and represent the science and mathematics disciplines in the college, and the shape mirrors the dynamic, rapid pace of the discovery and progress that happens here. New ideas are sparked where the segments of the “wave” of innovation meet.

College of Visual and Performing Arts

The College of Visual and Performing Arts flag features a graphic formed from the letters ARTS representing the intertwined nature of the visual and performing arts. The color purple—symbolizing creativity, wisdom and innovation—also anchors the college within the proud JMU tradition of excellence. Silver, a precious metal that reflects visions of the world, is also chromatically the balance point between black and white, reminding us that the creative arts give a voice to many perspectives.

2022 DECEMBER COMMENCEMENT 23
Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest academic honor society in America, and is a leading advocate for the liberal arts and sciences. The James Madison University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa was established in Spring 2010 as the Xi of Virginia chapter. To be eligible for membership, students must meet these conditions: high academic achievement, a liberal arts and sciences major, demonstrated knowledge of college-level mathematics and foreign language through the intermediate level, and at least 90 credit hours in liberal arts and sciences course work.

ARMY ROTC
The James Madison University Army ROTC Duke Battalion mission is to recruit, develop, educate and provide quality leadership training, practical hands-on experience, and Army values-based character development in order to commission agile and adaptive leaders to serve as the future officer leadership in the Army, Army Reserve, or Army National Guard. Additionally, it is our mission to motivate young people through caring leadership to be better citizens committed to lifelong service of the community and nation. Commissioned as Second Lieutenant US Army through James Madison University ROTC Program:

Katherine Elizabeth Bidwell
Jack Ronayne Murphy
Haley Anne Neal

AIR FORCE ROTC
Following graduation, Air Force ROTC’s Detachment 890 will proudly commission one of its seniors. Detachment 890 is comprised of James Madison University, Liberty University, Piedmont Valley Community College, and The University of Virginia, the host school. Their commissioning marks the transition from cadets to Air Force officers. As they enter active duty, the JMU cadets represent the various career opportunities within the Air Force. These career fields include pilot, intelligence officer, nurse, weather officer, space officer, and force support. Their time as cadets has prepared them with the leadership experience for this exciting time!

Lauren Suchan
Students graduating from the Honors College have completed a capstone project that demonstrates considerable knowledge in a field of study, a discipline, or an area of cross or interdisciplinary activity. For Honors Scholar students, the project is the culmination of a multi-year learning experience facilitated by faculty advisers and readers in a declared major or minor. All students have developed scholarly projects that reflect substantial research or creative work, imagination, originality and craftsmanship.
