

Nicole S. Wright is an associate professor at James Madison University. Her areas of expertise include data analytics, cutting edge technology, corporate fraud, financial statement assurance, and ESG reporting. Dr. Wright has published her research focusing on auditor judgment and decision making in a variety of journals, including The Accounting Review, Contemporary Accounting Research, and Auditing: A Journal of Practice and Theory. She also serves as the Co-Editor of Current Issues in Auditing. Dr. Wright earned her Ph.D. from Virginia Tech. Before entering academia, Dr. Wright was an assurance manager with PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLC and is a licensed CPA and CFE.