A time for contemplation and gratitude

While students are busy and stressed over finals and exams, it is clear that Commencement is right around the corner as seniors are taking every opportunity to take pictures on-campus in their cap and gown. Do you remember those days? What better time is there, for our office to be hosting a graduation dinner in their honor during which we will bestow them their own graduation cord? This time of the year is also a time to look back at what has taken place. During Giving Day held March 13, our office has received a grand total of $8,209 dollars, from 215 donors, to go towards programs and scholarship for international students. Thank you!

Developing leaders from around the world

It was just a beautiful scene to witness throughout the course of one-and-a-half day: student leaders, coming from all different cultural and social backgrounds, growing up in various parts of the globe... [\[Read more\]](#)

Choosing a college in the U.S.

Many ISSS staff members and other JMU faculty have recently been given the opportunity to represent JMU abroad during college fairs as well as give presentations in high schools... [\[Read more\]](#)

The other side of networking

In 2014, a life-changing event happened to me; I found myself as a part of a very vibrant happy-go-lucky clan that accepted me in every way... [\[read more\]](#)
