

Submit Your Work

Submission Requirements

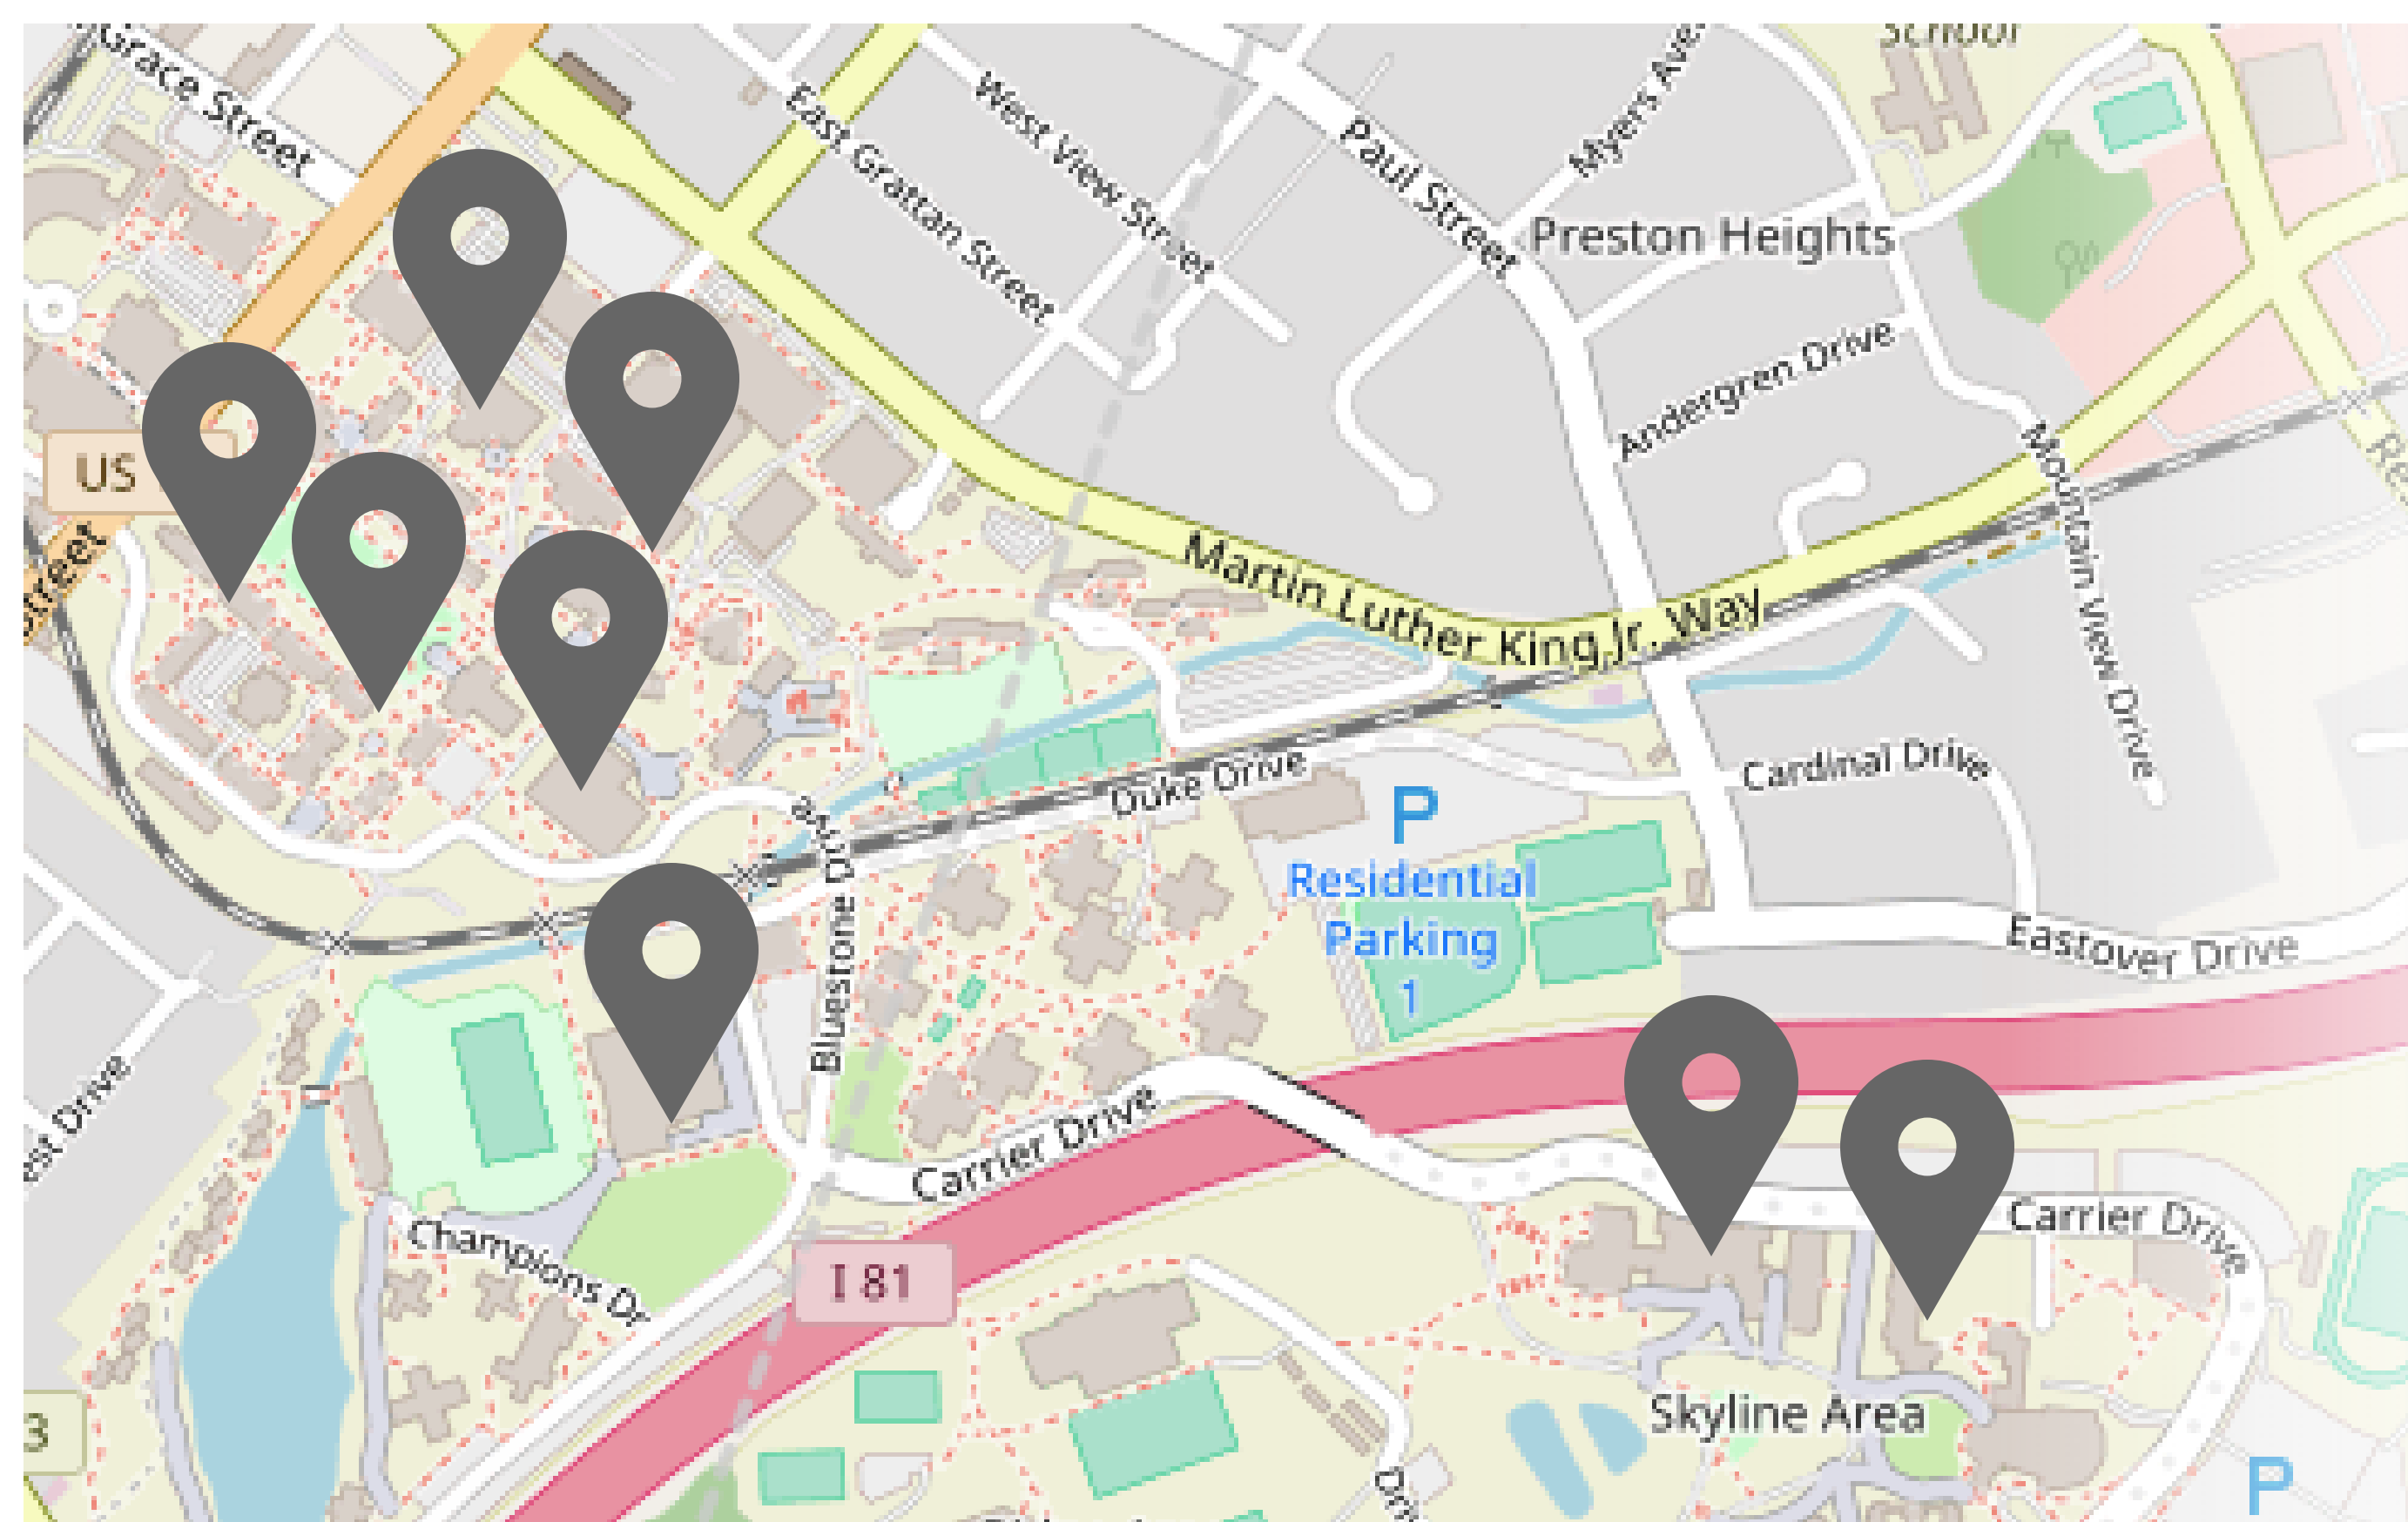

- Text-based submissions should be between 2,000 and 6,000 words and accessible to a diverse academic audience.
- Digital- and media-based submissions can stand alone or can be supplemented by a brief research statement.
- You can submit up to one year after graduating.

Submission Process

- We accept and publish on a rolling basis.
- The editorial board screens all submissions.
- Faculty volunteers review the screened submissions with a discipline-specific eye.
- If accepted by the faculty readers, the submissions undergo copyediting and move towards publication.

Disciplines JMURJ Has Published

- History
- WRTC
- Communication Studies
- Political Science
- English
- Architectural Design
- SMAD
- Justice Studies
- Psychology
- Health Communication
- Nursing
- Kinesiology
- Geographic Science
- Engineering
- Biology

What is JMURJ?

JMURJ is a student-run, peer-reviewed, undergraduate academic journal.

JMURJ promotes, publishes, and shares the excellent research and scholarship done by students in all JMU undergraduate disciplines.

Join the Editorial Board

What to Expect

- Comprehensively edit submissions and correspond with authors and faculty reviewers.
- Network, create funding opportunities, and develop publicity.
- Create graphics and design layouts for publication.

Fall 2018 Course Opportunities

- WRTC 454 Publication Management Seminar/Honors Credit (Tu/Th 12:30-1:45) 3 credits
- WRTC 328 JMURJ Practicum/Honors Credit (Tu/Th 12:30-1:45) 3 credits
- JMURJ Editorial Internship
- JMURJ Design Internship

Contact Kevin Jefferson (jefferkx@jmu.edu) or Kurt Schick (schickee@jmu.edu) if interested.