

on

CONFERENCE OPIOIDS

Hosted by the James Madison University
Physician Assistant Program and sponsored by the Health Resources & Services Administration

At The Festival Center Ballroom, James Madison University

Saturday, October 21, 2017
9:00AM - 4:00PM

Who's Invited?

Physicians and current medical students/residents
Physician Assistants and current PA students
Nurse Practitioners and current NP students
Any undergraduate student or faculty member interested in health professions, nursing, or the health sciences

Topics/Speakers Include:

Pharmacologic Properties of Opioids & Laws Pertaining to Prescribing

Joel Hess, MD - Sentara Back & Neck Specialists

Opioid Surveillance - Use of the Prescription Monitoring Program & Urine Toxicology

Joel Hess, MD - Sentara Back & Neck Specialists

Medication Assisted Treatment - Methadone & Buprenorphine
Allan Hamby, MD - Sentara Behavioral Health Specialists

Non-Pharmacologic Alternatives to Treatment of Opiate Addiction
Gregg Henriques, PhD - Licensed Clinical Psychologist, JMU

A Survey of Substance Abuse in Harrisonburg & Rockingham County
Special Agent Josiah Schiavone, VA State Police, Northwest Regional Drug & Gang Task Force

Free snacks and refreshments will be provided throughout the day.

Free lunch will be provided as well.

For more information email emuriabd@jmu.edu

Registration is free, however in order to attend you must RSVP online at goo.gl/vD761o (or use QR code to left)

This program has been approved for a total of 5 Category I CME credits by the AAPA

