

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH CONFERENCES 2018

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH

University of Central Oklahoma, April 4 - 7

Integrating research into the curriculum is a growing practice in American universities and is being further supported financially by federal research agencies. The National Conference on Undergraduate Research's annual conference creates a unique environment for the celebration and promotion of undergraduate student achievement as it exists in various disciplines and types of institutions.

COLONIAL ACADEMIC ALLIANCE

Dates and Location to be Announced

The conference brings together student representatives from the 10 Colonial Academic Alliance (CAA) institutions to present their scholarly and research endeavors to a gathering of their peers. Participants will represent an array of disciplines from the traditional sciences to the humanities, fine arts, social sciences, and professional schools. Attendees will also have opportunities to hear high-profile keynote speakers and to gather information about graduate school admission and career preparation.
